

Greg Gunn is the founding pastor of Providence Church in Spring Hill. Providence has been one of the fastest growing congregations in the EPC and was the 2023 winner of the prestigious Bart Hess Award for Church Vitality. Greg holds a BA in Education, and a master's degree in biblical studies, and is an ordained Pastor in the Evangelical Presbyterian Church. Prior to planting Providence Church in 2012, Greg spent twenty-three years serving as a youth pastor. Thirteen of those years were on staff right here at Faith Church Brooksville. Greg is also the founder and Senior Instructor for Community Christian Karate Clubs, a multi-site martial arts organization dedicated to using martial arts to introduce children, youth, and families to the gospel as well as model and develop Christian character. Beyond that, Greg is founder and Executive Director of Karate for the King Invitational events.

In addition to 30 years in professional ministry as a youth pastor and Lead Pastor, Greg has worked as a middle school and high school teacher, as an adjunct professor of Youth Ministry and Christian Leadership, as a counselor in adolescent mental health, and sat on the board of New Horizons for Children, an international orphan hosting ministry.

Greg has been married to Aimee for twenty-four years and they have four children; Hannah, Caleb, Caitee Grace, and recently, Isabella, whom they just adopted from Colombia last summer. Greg and Aimee have a heart for international orphans, education, children and teens, missions, and the life of the local church.
